What is SpouseLink.org™?

SpouseLink.org is a free website linking Military Spouses together through supportive, informative and inspiring content.

Who created SpouseLink?

AAFMAA created SpouseLink. AAFMAA is a non-profit, membership association supporting the American Armed Forces community with affordable insurance, financial planning and Survivor Assistance Services for widows and widowers. Military families call AAFMAA when they need help, from how to navigate confusing benefits to next steps after losing a loved one.

Why was SpouseLink created?

Spouses of AAFMAA directors and members suggested that AAFMAA create a website just for Military Spouses as a way to further support the Military community.

What Makes SpouseLink Special?

SpouseLink is a free Military Spouse website offering all sorts of content that is relevant to MilSpouses. The site includes posts ranging from spouse careers and financial advice to parenting and Military transitions. It also gives Military Spouses a voice by accepting content contributions to the site.

Where does SpouseLink get its content?

Our editors bring together the best videos, stories and resources from various places online. We post exclusive articles from contributing authors, re-syndicate content from trusted online sources and write content ourselves.

Can I be a SpouseLink author?

Definitely! SpouseLink is great for bloggers, writers and Military Spouses with something to share. When you contribute to SpouseLink.org, it's a win-win situation; we get great content for our followers and you get promoted through our site and social media profiles. You keep all the rights to your work and can share it anywhere else you want. There are no messy contracts or fees, we simply share good content that supports, informs and inspires Military Spouses. Send us an email at SpouseLinkEditor@aafmaa.com or visit our Contribute page to get started.

Does SpouseLink pay its authors?

Since AAFMAA is a nonprofit, member-owned association, we can't pay authors for their contributions. On the flip side, we don't ask for money to promote and spread the word about our authors and their work.
